Description

22 hours since restoration by Val de Loire Aviation in France

Built for Catherine Maunoury who competed in the World Aerobatics Championships in it in 1982 and 1984

Exterior Overall Silver with Black and Gold trim, Phantom F4Js of No 74 Sqn RAF "Tiger Squadron"-
Excellent Condition

Flying Qualities Report:

The Cap-21 has a similar power to weight ratio as the Extra 300, with improved control harmony (especially in yaw) and an unparalleled ability to maintain large sideslip angles. Roll rate is slower than an Extra, but the feel of the aircraft is incredibly well harmonized with balanced control forces and deflections. The steerable tailwheel provides excellent directional control in crosswinds, and visibility on the ground is very good. Overall performance is similar to the Lazer Z-200 series, but with the pleasing flying qualities associated with French aircraft.
