Description:

You'd be hard-pressed to find a better-equipped 1969 Cessna 182M Skylane on the market! This isn't your average 182M! With extensive engine improvements, upgraded avionics, and a refreshed interior and exterior, this Skylane offers an impressive combination of classic Cessna reliability and modern enhancements.

Under the cowling sits a Continental O-470-R engine that has received extensive IRAN work, including a new camshaft, ported and polished cylinders, balanced pistons, and significant internal component refurbishment. What really sets this engine apart is its desirable steel crankshaft and heavy-duty engine case, offering exciting potential for a future P.Ponk/XP50 conversion. The upgrades don't stop there! Electroair electronic ignition, premium fine-wire spark plugs, a rebuilt engine mount with Lord mounts, and a Reiff engine heater add even more appeal to this thoughtfully upgraded aircraft.

Step into the cockpit and you'll find an impressive IFR avionics package featuring dual Garmin G5 displays, Garmin Flight Stream 210, dual KX 155 radios, and a Garmin GTX 345 transponder with ADS-B In/Out. A three-blade McCauley propeller completes the package, while the updated 2017 paint, interior, and tinted windows give this classic Skylane a fresh, modern look.

For the pilot who appreciates quality upgrades, desirable engine components, and the legendary versatility of the Cessna 182, this Skylane deserves a serious look! Whether you're planning cross-country adventures or looking for a well-equipped aircraft with future upgrade potential, this 182M has plenty to offer. Don't miss your opportunity to make it yours!
